

The Search for Truth

From this place of stillness, from this place of peace, harmony and tranquility, we now call upon Shaltazar, the Gavish Banenu, the Keeper of the Secrets of the Universe to come forth and share with us the wisdom that transcends time.

We are here. We are here now. We are here forever. We have never left your side. We have never been separated from you. It is only you that does not believe that to be true. But it is only a part of you that does not believe it is truth. For there is another part of you, a part of you that has been here many times before, and that part of you knows we have never been separated. And for many on your planet, that part of you that is us, has forgotten. Forgotten because that is part of the plan, but that need not be the way it is. For although you live in the duality of planet Earth you have the privilege of free choice. Each and every human being on your planet has the choice to connect to that part of them that is infinite and to remember. We are here to simply remind you. Since you are in a more meditative relaxed state, as the mind is quiet and the heart is more open, maybe you will remember easier. Maybe that part of you will come to recognize us as your true brothers and sisters.

And you may ask for what purpose is that. We live here in human form and to remember that a part of us is infinite, a part of us is all-powerful how does that help us to get through the toil? To get through the challenges, to get through the difficulties of human life?

And we say to you it is because you do not understand. You do not understand because you think that just because you exist in the duality, just because you think you have a human side and a divine side that it must be either or. Many of you have connected to your divinity and we honour you for that. We thank you for finding that part of you that is us. But we must inform you that finding that aspect of you that is the Source is not sufficient. To navigate the human life with greater ease with greater clarity, with greater harmony it is necessary, yes, it is necessary for you to bring those two aspects, those two parts of the duality into one. To allow your divinity to meld, to unite, to come together with your humanness.

Ever since 2012 many of you have been hoping and wondering when it will get better. Although it may not appear to be getting better from your perspective, we are pleased to inform you that from our side of the veil, all is evolving well. You have just begun a new calendar year, the year that is referred to by many as the eight. A year of great potential. And we hear many of you saying it is already the middle of January and how come we have not seen more potential? And we wrap our imaginary arms around you and give you a hug and say to you dear brother, dear sister please be patient, please be patient. For what many of you are feeling since the calendar changed, since the new year came upon you is something that does not feel that positive. Some are lethargic, some are bored, some are too busy. And we are here to tell you that in order to welcome new beginnings you must pay homage to the endings. This month of January as the new moon was a few days ago, as Mercury has moved into retrograde, is a month for space.

Yes, space. Space for you to rest and pay homage to the endings. You do not realize in human form how easy it is to be attached. To be attached to your career, your relationships, your name. All of the things that you have allowed to define you. But if you want those new beginnings to arise, you must let go of that in your life which is to be ended. For many of you have hung on far too long to habits, to thoughts that do not serve you. And yet you anxiously await the new beginnings. Please, we beg you allow this month of space to say goodbye to that which no longer serves you. For some, this may be sad for even those habits that have not served you, if you have had them for many years, they are a part of you. It is always sad to leave something that you are attached to, no matter how pleasant or unpleasant it is.

As you embark on these new beginnings that have the potential of coming forth “in the soon” (you must realize that “soon” does not exist on our side of the veil, all is the now, and soon is only a construct of the linear time that exists on your planet) even the anticipation of what will come soon or may come soon, the waiting for it, causes many of you discomfort. You are not comfortable with the unknown. You are often disturbed and disheveled as you wait for what is over the hill. But what you do not realize is that anxiousness, that reluctance to be comfortable with the uncertain, holds you back from the very things that you want. The energy of your planet is changing and the ability to manifest quicker is available to you now. So We beg of you to become more conscious of the feelings that are deep within you for they are creating your future. In order to truly get what it is you think you want, you must be prepared to accept the uncertainty of life in human form.

There is no other way. For that feeling of uncertainty, the anxiousness, the not knowing, lengthens the time required for your manifestations to come forth into reality. Why is it that you are so uncomfortable with not knowing? It is the sense of fear, the sense of fear that has been handed down from generation to generation, but also the sense of fear that is part of your DNA. Is it the fear that is part of you simply observing that which is going on around you. We mentioned a few moments ago that from our side of the veil things look like they were evolving well on planet earth. And yet from the human perspective look around, read the news and it will not take you long to be horrified by the travesties, by the hatred, by man’s inhumanity to man. And it is so easy to fall into the trap of believing that your planet is in a dangerous place. Your need to know, your need to extrapolate into the future with all the fear and darker energy around you does not help your planet

For simply by being aware and feeling the terror, the fear, the uncertainty and allowing yourself to vibrate at that level, simply perpetrates that which you are trying to dispose of. So we encourage you here this evening to make friends with uncertainty, to exchange your fear for faith. To allow faith to be your guide as you navigate the uncertain waters that lie ahead. For if you allow yourself to be in the flow of the water and you trust that the water will take you to the place that is in your highest good, then you will be able to let go of the fear of the unknown. You will be able to make friends with uncertainty.

Your preoccupation with uncertainty comes from the desire to find truth. And we have seen for eons as human beings search and search and search some more for truth. And your technology has intensified that search for you now have this amazing resource called the World Wide Web. And that World Wide Web connects, but unfortunately it also separates. There is so much information, there is so much knowledge that comes forth from web. It comes forth on so many different devices, every minute of every day. And we know because we are there when you constantly check your mobile devices. Some of you even bring them to bed with you. It is good that there is so much content, so much information, so much sharing, but it is also dangerous. It is dangerous because you are looking to this resource for answers, for truth. And we wonder if you have noticed that for every one opinion there is a counter opinion. For every fact, there is a disproving fact. For every truth, there is a counter truth.

We regret to inform you that your search for truth is occurring in the wrong place. You look outside of yourself for truth. You give your power away by assuming that others know better than you. Now is the opportunity for you truly to connect with the truth. We say “the truth” because you think the truth is absolute. But on your planet in this place of the duality, of the polarities, there does not exist absolute truth. All that exists is relative truth. You do not realize that in the duality that all truths can only be relative. Absolute truth only exists in the Field, in the Universe, at the Source from the Great Creator on our side of the veil. And so you do not realize as you scurry about checking everywhere for truth, that the truth that you search for outside of yourself will never, and we repeat will never, set you free. The only chance of freedom, the only chance of harmony, of peace and contentment will come when you realize that your divinity can connect you to the Universal Truths, but your humanness must exist in a place where all truths are relative. We have seen you, we have seen you take so seriously what you are told is the truth. We see you get so excited when the truth agrees with your belief. We see you get so frustrated and anxious when the truth that is presented is contrary to your beliefs. We say to you that your search for truth is diminishing your power. Your search for the absolute truth in human form will cause you much anguish. And that is why we suggest to you that you make uncertainty your friend.

Imagine for a moment as you are walking down the road of life, as you are traveling down the river of life and both are assuring you that the water ahead, that the road ahead, although it is unknown, will work out just fine. Feel, for a moment, as you let uncertainty be your friend how you can let go of the fear. And when you let go of the fear simply knowing that you will be fine no matter what comes your way, the obsessive search for truth is somewhat redundant. And so you can accept the truth that is told to you today and you can equally accept the truth that comes to you next year, which is the opposite of the truth that came to you today. And you can chuckle and you can relax knowing that part of our journey in human form is to always be seeking a new truth. Instead of being frustrated that truth continues to change, that truth is relative, begin to realize and appreciate that those changing truths have brought you forth from the dark ages. Those changing truths have allowed you to evolve as civilizations.

So we invite you to rethink the perspective you have about the unknown. We invite you to welcome the endings that are coming forth in your life at this time. We invite you to be more at ease with the uncertainty that is in your future. We invite you to let go of the fear and instead to embrace the faith and know that we are always here with you. All you need do is call upon us.
