

DISCOVER YOUR SELF.
EMBRACE YOUR ESSENCE.
EVOKE YOUR INSPIRATION.

JEFFREY EISEN
JEFFREYEISEN.COM

Let Go of the Struggle to be Right

We are Shaltazar, the Gavish Banenu, the Energy of 33, the Master Teacher and We have come forth at this time to bring you Master Teachings.

Feel the peace. Go within and find the still point. From that place of stillness, you will hear Us loudly. Hear the message that We are about to bring to you in a deeper way and it will resonate more profoundly. It will resonate much stronger if you listen not only with your mind. Allow the mind to be still and open your heart. Simply feel the moment. Feel it deeply. For it is deeper and broader than you think. There is so much happening in this moment, but often you miss it because your mind takes you back in time to the past and forward in time to the future. Your mind feeds you thoughts of this, and thoughts of that as one thought leads to another. And before long you are not in the present moment but off into the past or the future again. If the mind could be still and the heart open you would feel the moment in a different way. You would realize that this moment is all there really is. For this moment becomes the next moment, and the next moment becomes the next moment, and all of those moments meld into the Infinity of all time.

So once again take a deep breath so you can move to the still point within, so you can move to the place where you can hear Us loudly, where you will know what We are saying to you. For it is truth. You have just forgotten. Yes, you have forgotten the truth, and it is not your fault. It is part of the plan to forget the truth when you incarnate in human form. You forgot your Divinity; you forgot from where you came. But for a moment allow Us to help you remember, to help you remember the Unity, the Oneness of the Source that you came from. And in that remembering, there will be great clarity, for on your planet at this time there is great confusion, there is great frustration, there is great doubt and there is great worry, for you do not know what your future will bring. We invite you to become more comfortable with the not knowing. We have told you this many times before, and We know it is difficult, especially with the challenges that you face, especially with the unknown of the pandemic you have named COVID-19. But this virus is simply a catalyst to help you change yourself and to change your world.

We have spoken much lately about these changes that are possible on your planet and yet you still are confused, because it seems so difficult for you to make changes amidst the chaos. It requires great focus, it requires great will to change that which is so unpleasant, so frustrating, so unknown, so challenging and so difficult. But if you can move to the still point you will feel the clarity, you will come to the remembering. You will come to realize that you have come forth in human form for a great purpose. Not a singular purpose, but for many purposes. And this is not a game where you win or lose. Whether you accomplish a specific purpose or not, it does not really matter. For as We have told you the mere experiencing of your lifetime expression fulfills the greater purpose for the sake of the Source Itself.

There is an opportunity for you to be unto yourself true. And in order to do so, you must let go of the opinions of others. You must let go of all that you are being told. You must focus less on the linearity and logic of life and move more to your heart of hearts. Let go of reading and listening to all of the opinions, the facts, what is referred to on your planet as news. Let it all go and simply Be with Us for a moment. And when you do so you will remember with great clarity the part of you that many have forgotten, that part of you that has been here many times before. In order to get through these challenging times, as well as letting go of the outside disturbances of the content that you are bombarded with, you must begin to make choices from a different place. And We know what We are saying is difficult because you believe that you must make informed choices, you must make choices from all of the information that is all around you.

But as We have told you before, all truth on planet Earth is relative. There is no absolute truth. We encourage you to let go of the search for the one and only answer, the one, and only truth. Simply be still and allow the guidance from above to help you walk the path that you are now on. We remind you that there is no right and there is no wrong. Let go of judgement. It is not the choices you make that are the problem. It is the judgement of those choices that causes you great suffering. It is your desire to be right because you fear if you are wrong you will be harmed. If you are wrong you will suffer. But what you do not realize is that you are suffering because you are struggling to find the right answers.

What if We told you the right answers did not exist? Your planet has never experienced what it is going through at this time. So how can you know what is right and what is wrong? The only way you will find out is by trying different options. But if you are trying these options with the desire to get it right you will become very disillusioned. Let go of the desire to be right and simply move to the quietude of life at this critical time in your human history. Give yourself a break from searching for the right answers and instead just be content with not knowing. Allow your still point, your connection to Us to guide you forth in each step that you take, knowing that We are with you always and forever. There is so much going on around you that is stimulating your mind. It stimulates the brain, but if you want the guidance from above to come through you, then you must learn to be more still more of the time. As We have told you the stillness speaks loudly to those who listen to it.

Allow your will to merge with God's Will and you will not have to worry as much about making the right decisions. We know that may sound confusing because you live on the planet of free choice. How can God's Will become your will when it is the human you, that is choosing each moment of each day? But if you allow yourself to be more still you can tap into the guidance of the Source. And once you receive that guidance the choice is yours as to follow it or not. It is you that must take action, it is you that must choose what the next step will be. But instead of relying on the human mind, instead of relying on the opinions of others, instead of relying on the content that is all around you, you can make choices that come more from your Divinity.

But first, you must learn to tap into that Divinity in a stronger way. And then you must invoke your personal will and allow it to merge with the Source's Will. That means you must surrender your need to be in control. You must trust that which you do not understand and never will understand. If you have the courage to do so your actions will come more from love, your actions will come from harmony, your actions will come from understanding, empathy, and compassion. For that is the Source's Will. And when your decisions come from that energy, the need to be right will melt away. For in your desire to be right there is an innate assumption that there is a wrong. But from the Source's perspective that is not the case. There simply is what is.

So much of your suffering comes from trying to find the right and stay away from the wrong. Learn to simply take one step at a time without judgement. That does not mean that you should not be discerning, of course, you should. But allow that discernment to come from your Higher Self. Allow that discernment to come from the love, from the goodness, from the compassion, from the empathy that is deep within you, that is in every cell of your body. Begin to shift the decision-making away from the conditioned mind and to your heart of hearts. Begin to feel what is right for you in every decision that you make. For when the decisions are made from the place that feels in harmony, that feels right, that feels in alignment with your Essence, you will find that the decisions will serve you much better. The need to prove you are right will disappear. The need to judge your decisions will not be necessary.

Simply feel the “rightness” in each and every step that you take. Allow your decisions to come from your feeling place, allow the thinking mind to have a rest. Many of you are trying to think your way out of the challenges and dilemmas you are facing. But you may not have realized that what got you into these problems is the thinking mind. We would suggest to you that the thinking mind will only get you deeper into the quandaries that you are being confronted with.

It requires a change in consciousness. It requires a move to the feeling heart in order to truly let go of your suffering. But to do so, you must love your mind into quietude, you must love your mind into stillness. As We have told you in recent messages, love not only can bring you what you choose but can take away that which you do not choose. Love your mind for it has given you much. It is, however, time if you choose to allow your mind to become part of the solution as opposed to part of the problem. It is time to change how your mind operates. It has been so busy trying to find the right answers, to make the right choices. It is time to give it a rest. Instead of taking instructions from that part of the brain that is logical and linear, allow the mind to take instructions from the feeling heart.

Allow your feelings to guide you through these turbulent waters. Quiet the obsessive mind, ask it to be more still, and to become more obedient. It is time to change how you operate. It is time to change who is giving the orders. It is time, if you choose, to allow your will to be merged with God’s Will.

We bring you this message from a place of love. Our love for you is unconditional and everlasting.

August 6, 2020